Editorial

In the context of increasing awareness of interrelationship of various aspects of life on Earth, academic pursuits have become more multi-disciplinary. Thus the researches crossing the borders of various disciplines have become order of the day. The relevance of multi-disciplinary research journals have increased in this new context. Since the inception of Misbah - Niche of Knowledge, we have been particular in maintaining its multi-disciplinary nature. From this issue onwards, the journal has been resized to make it more handy.
