Editorial

The intercultural or the interreligious fellowships among the people have been moulded on their multi cultural experiences all over the world. The unicultural life patterns help human beings only to keep away from the vibrancy of cross cultural togetherness. The human societies world wide painfully witness the conflict between multi culturalism and uniculturalism as the right wing forces take root in the political as well as social spheres taking the form of political mobilisation and social hatred. The peaceful coexistence will get into risk zones unless deliberate efforts to wipe out such forces are resorted to. Let three 'C's namely Co existence, Composite Culture and Cosmopolitan Outlook, be the rule of the day everywhere. Misbah, through its niche of knowledge strives to allocate space for diverse views and always share multicultural experiences.
